Road Report

Roads in the northern part of the state are especially bad just now. The recent rains cut them up to such an extent that it will be some time before they are in decent shape. The river crossing at Sacaton is reported to still be rather precarious. Wagons have had no trouble in crossing, and only the heavier machines have been hard to tow across. It is also necessary to tow cars across the Agua Fria. On the road to Roosevelt it will be found that conditions are exceedingly bad from here to Fish Creek. After that place is passed, it is possible to travel without much trouble. The Black Canyon Road is in extremely bad condition. Teams are in attendance at Coldwater to aid those motorists who fail to make the crossing under their own power.
